

Letter of invitation to the " Slime mould days 2024"

Flavius Popa, Bernard Woerly and Martine Régé-Gianas are jointly organising the 35th conference of niviculous slime moulds in the Berchtesgaden National Park under the leadership of the Fédération Mycologique et Botanique Dauphiné-Savoie (F.M.B.D.S.).

For the first time, it will take place in Germany, in the Berchtesgaden National Park (Bavaria), near the Austrian border. The excursion sites are located south of the town of Berchtesgaden on the 1839 m high Jennerberg. In this protected area we can collect and document the species in agreement with the authorities of the national park, which was visited by Flavius and Bernard last autumn. Vehicular access to the area is not possible, but there is a cable car that can take us to the summit if we need to look for snow there !

We would be delighted to have you as a participant and invite you to the "35th International Conference on the Study of Niviculous Myxomycetes" which will take place from

Monday 29 April to Friday 3 May 2024 at the Almhof-Baumgarten, Bad Reichenhall, (Upper Bavaria) - Alt. 500 m.

The hotel is located 25 km from the excursion locations. Packed lunches can also be prepared on site for lunch in the field. We will be accommodated in comfortable single, double and multi-bed rooms, the prices are staggered.

We have booked the entire Almhof, from dinner on Monday to lunch on Friday.

We have set the following prices per person for the entire stay with full board:

- 650.00 € per person in a single room.
- 580.00 € per person in a double room (limited number of rooms).
- 550.00 € per person in shared rooms.
- 25,00 € registration fee per person.

Drinks are not included in the price.

It is possible to book a comfort room (single or double room) in the nearby Hotel IBIS (2 km) at an extra charge of € 20 per day/per person. Work and meals will then take place together at the Almhof.
